

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for adapting a user interface on a display device of a protocol tester having a visual network plan which is used for the configuration of a telecommunication measurement task by a user includes 5 modifying the visual network plan in comparison to a basic network plan according to hardware and/or software existing in the protocol tester.